Springtime wild honeysuckle vine in bloom is a memorable experience. The fresh fragrance grabs your attention, it is so invigorating and fresh “it is the smell of springtime”. If you pick a honeysuckle flower then pinch the bottom leaving the long stamen intact pulling it down through the flower you can extract that one little dewdrop of “a pure honey nectar” to taste. This is the picture that came to mind when one of our roastmasters created this special blend. Light and fresh tasting, with a little floral nuance and notes of wild honey, pear, and maple syrup. Described as “energetically delightful” it makes a great way to start the day! Best as a nice medium roast to capitalize on the natural light fresh character that this blend has to offer.
