Stay Awhile - Back in the old days when people were mostly hospitable and friendly they had secret ways of saying “you are welcome here” or “it is time for you to go”. Like adjusting the ropes on the bed, or messing with bedding thickness, or simply using a shorter candle that would burn out a little quicker meaning it was time to go home. So if you started out with a full candle lighting up a motto like “We hope you kick your feet up, Laugh loudly and make good memories, Stay awhile, feel at home, Every family has a story to tell, Welcome to ours” then you were probably a trusted friend. Well today you can do that with coffee. You could serve cheap supermarket stuff or serve “Stay Awhile” rolling out the welcome mat. Juicy round smooth chocolaty body notes, vanilla, orange, green apple, good complexity, clean-n-bright
